Ok here's the deal. Click on REDACTED and enter your information, and the law firm who is representing the class will be in touch. I think it is worth exploring! They are alleging that BlackRock violated their ERISA duties by investing employee 401k savings almost all in blackrock funds, so the class wants to recover losses from excessive fees and losses. You never know how it could pan out. Let me know what happens!

 I was mortified! And then remembered they fired all the people I know. Satan's dark forces in soccer shorts. I was there then but I don't see if there is anywhere to opt in to some sort of action. I'd love free money from those assholes!
